Artwork Contest

Many thanks to all the art students for their hard work on creating their masterpieces!

Our program cover was designed by Julia Mak. She is 12 and a Grade 7 student at Cougar Canyon Elementary School. Apart from drawing, Julia enjoys playing violin, piano, and flute. She also likes playing the violin at Surrey Intermediate Orchestra. Reading, listening to music, making crafts are also her hobbies.

MICHELLE MARES

A native of Vancouver, Canada, Michelle Mares began her musical studies at the age of four. A student of the Suzuki Piano Method, she amassed a great deal of performing experience from an early age as a child prodigy. At the age of ten, she gave her first full length recital and in the same year, appeared for the first time as a soloist with the Mozarteum Orchestra in Salzburg, Austria. At the age of twelve, she was personally invited by the world renowned pedagogue, Karl Heinz Kämmerling, to study with him in Germany and worked with him there for a year. From that point on, she routinely won top prizes in competitions including the CBC Young Performer's Competition (2nd prize in 1987 at the age of fifteen and again in 1995 with 1st prize), the Hamburg Steinway Competition (1983), the Montreal Symphony Competition (1986), the S.A.C.E.M. Prize at the Robert Casadesus International Competition (1993) and at the age of seventeen, top prize at the 1988 Geneva International Competition. She has also been awarded the Canada Council B grant on various occasions.

She has attracted the attention of some of the world's most eminent musicians studying with Canada's own Jane Coop at UBC and Leon Fleisher at the Peabody Conservatory. She received her performance degree at the Mozarteum Conservatory in Salzburg, Austria in 1995. Subsequently, she moved to London, England to work with Alfred Brendel and was also privileged to come into the orbit of the great Hungarian composer, György Kurtág, who had an enormous influence on her as a musician. It was at this point that she decided to settle in Europe.

She has led an active performing career in both Canada and Europe spanning the entire repertoire as a soloist and chamber musician. She has performed with virtually every major orchestra in Canada as a soloist and her performances have been heard regularly on national and international radio broadcast. Some of the orchestras she has appeared with in Europe include Orchestre de la Suisse Romande, Basel Symphony Orchestra, Slovak Philharmonic Orchestra, Polish Chamber Orchestra and the Netherlands Radio Chamber Orchestra.

After nearly 2 decades in Europe, Ms. Mares returned to her native West Coast of Canada in 2008. In 2010, she suffered the serious setback of a broken wrist. She managed to triumph over her injury, and shortly thereafter, she performed the demanding Goldberg Variations and the complete 24 Chopin Etudes which she recorded in 2013. She is currently settled in Vancouver, BC and is on the piano faculty at the University of Victoria. In her teaching, she draws from a deep reservoir of musical and professional experience.

Mark Anderson

In a world where transient glitter is often mistaken for pianistic excellence, Anderson offered that rare commodity: an ability to speak through music without hint of artifice.

- The Washington Post

A native of the San Francisco Bay Area, pianist Mark Anderson's performances as recitalist, soloist and chamber musician have met with wide critical acclaim. He has appeared as soloist with conductors such as Sir Simon Rattle, Nicholas McCegan, William Boughton, George Cleve, and Adam Fischer. In recital, Mark has appeared at New York's Alice Tully Hall and Weill Hall, the Kennedy Center and the Phillips Gallery in Washington D.C., London's Wigmore Hall and Zurich's Tonhalle and elsewhere throughout Europe and the United States. In addition, his performances have been featured on BBC Radio 3, the CBC in Canada, and on radio and television in Spain, Italy, Ireland, Japan and the United States.

Mr. Anderson records exclusively with Nimbus Records and has released recordings of works by Liszt, Schumann, Brahms and Dohnanyi, Copland and Gershwin, Mussorgsky and Stravinsky. He has recorded the complete solo piano works of Hans von Bülow for Nimbus in two discs released in 2010 and 2013. In his most recent research and recording project, he features the solo piano music of the Dutch composer Julius Röntgen, the first disc having been released in February 2015. The next CD of Röntgen's piano music will be released early in 2016.

In the United States, Mark Anderson was a student of Aiko Onishi. While in the UK, he studied with Ryszard Bakst and, most notably, Benjamin Kaplan in London. Mr. Anderson holds a bachelor degree in piano performance from San Jose State University as well as post-graduate degrees from the Royal Northern College of Music in Manchester, and the Royal Academy of Music in London where he continued his studies on a Fulbright Scholarship.

In 2005, Mark Anderson founded New World Music Academy in Pleasanton, California. The academy continues to teach and inspire students of all ages and is an innovator in group piano teaching techniques. Mr. Anderson is often invited to adjudicate regional, national and international piano competitions and teaches at the newly established New World Music Academy Summer Festival.

Mark Anderson was appointed Assistant Professor of Piano, Chamber Music and Piano Pedagogy at University of British Columbia School of Music in 2012. His students regularly participate and are often laureates of local, regional, national and international competitions. In addition to teaching, he makes solo, concerto and chamber appearances. Most recently, he has been active with his piano-duo and life partner Canadian pianist Michelle Mares.

Here is a supreme musical talent with clear ideas on interpretation.... A splendid disc.

BBC Music Magazine

Anderson has a wonderful gift for achieving great warmth in the whole piano-sound whilst keeping every strand clear and luminous. He boasts not only the full-scale grasp of the music, but the immaculate pedal technique needed to realize it. He is a musician eminently worth hearing.

Financial Times, London

Here's How it Works

Each student needs to provide the adjudicator with an original copy of the score they are performing. Photocopies should not be used, as this breaks copyright laws. Be sure to ask your teacher for a copy of the score if you don't already have one.

Put your name on the front of your score so we can return it to you after the class. It is also helpful if the bars are numbered at the start of each line.

You will be called up to play by your first name in the order set out in the program. If you are late, your name will be called at the end of the class and you can play then. If you miss the class, there can be no fee refund.

Here are a few things you should NOT do:

- ♪ Bring food or drink into the festival rooms
- ♪ Talk or whisper during performances or adjudications
- ♪ Stand up and walk out or walk in during a performance

If very young children attend the Festival classes or the Celebration Concerts, they will need to be quiet and not make noise or move around.

No one is allowed to play the pianos outside of the class times.

If you have questions about the festival, please speak with your teacher or look around for one of the festival helpers. You should not approach the adjudicators to discuss Festival matters.

Students, dress nicely! You are 'on stage' and remember to take a bow when you hear applause.

Recording is allowed, but only if you use discretion. However, you should not record the adjudicators.

Thanks!

"Can Studying Music Make you Smarter?"

(excerpted from New York Times, "Special Features" article by Suzanne Boynton).

Research has shown that children who learn to play musical instruments at an early age will also have an educational advantage. The U.S. College Board, which administers the SAT test used by most U.S. universities to determine admissions, found that music students outperform others by 52 points on the verbal portion of the SAT, and 37 points in math.

In a recent study at the University of California at Irvine, pre-schoolers were divided into three groups: one took piano lessons; a second, computer lessons; a third received no instruction. After six months, the kids were given a test to measure abstract reasoning ability-- and the young musicians scored a significant 34% higher than their peers, including those with computer know-how.

Children who test well in abstract reasoning usually go on to excel in math and science. The researchers say math and music are based on similar principles. Researchers also speculate that early musical training can positively affect the brain's development.

Psychologist Fran Rauscher and physicist Gordon Shaw of University of California at Irvine are also known for their study showing that just listening to complex music, such as pieces written by classical composers, could temporarily enhance spacial reasoning in people of all ages, a phenomenon dubbed "The Mozart Effect".

"If a child hears good music from the day he is born and learns to play it himself, he develops sensitivity, discipline and endurance. He gets a beautiful heart."

WHY WE TEACH MUSIC . . .

Music is a science: it is exact and specific and it demands exact acoustics. A page of music is a chart, a graph which indicates frequencies, intensities, volume changes melody and harmony all at once and with the most exact control of time.

Music is mathematical: it is rhythmically based on the subdivisions of time into fractions all done instantaneously, not worked out on paper.

Music is a foreign language: many musical terms are in Italian, French or German and the notation is certainly not English, but a highly developed kind of shorthand that uses symbols to represent ideas. Music is a complete and universal language.

Music is history: it often reflects the environment and times of its creation...and often the country or culture.

Music is physical education: it requires fantastic coordination of fingers, hands and arms which must respond instantly to the sound the ear hears and the mind interprets.

Music is all of those things, but most of all, it is art....it allows us to take all those dry and technical terms and techniques and use them to create emotion and beauty.
